CAPTURE OF PAYMASTER MARKHAM, E.N. CHICAGO, 14th July.

Markham left his ship. estensibly for Yucatan, and all clue to him had been lost before his misdeeds came to light and the case was formally handed over to Scotland Yard detectives in London. Meantime Markham was in Shanghai, where he was spending money with prodigality worthy of an East Indian Rajah. It was in Shanghai that he fell in love with an American adventuress named Gussie Bland, who had just arrived from San Francisco, travelling as Mrs. De Forest. Upon her Markham lavished nearly everything he had, when soon after he became aware that officers were searching him out and that he had barely enough funds to bring bimself to Sari Francisco. So nervous was he on the way over that he attracted the attention of a San Francisco officer, who was on another errand. Had the San Francisco officers been notified. She went to Los Angeles, but when the British officials had finally located her, they house was watched month after month, until by accident one day a detective noticed the address of a letter mailed to one of the weman's intimates at a saloon near by. The handwriting seemed familiar and a comparison with the photograph of his signature on a Sau Francisco hotel register showed the writer to be Markham. Close observation established the fact that Markham sent frequent letters at general delivery in some distant city. Officers in disguise thereupon invaigled themselves into Mrs. De Forest's graces, and one night when champagne loosed her tongue they got her to talking of her mysterious correspondent. She ridiculed him mercilessly as an Englishman who had thrown away a fortune on her and was still as infatuated as ever, incidentally dropping the fact that he was then in Kansas City, where he was, as above stated, arrested to-day.

The Herald's Washington special says :- If the Atlanta's gun carriages are too light new ones will have to be constructed not only for the Atlanta, but for the Hoston and Chicago, as they are all practically under way or completed, and may have to be cast aside for larger and stronger ones. The cause of the damage to the Atlant's is a source of great humiliation tracts for five additional vessels to be awarded in a few weeks, bids to be invited for a great armoured cruiser and a battle-ship, these officers say that if the department cannot keep pace with the experimental knowledge in ordnance, it is of little moment whether the new vessels have guns or not. This decision is that the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, which runs a line of vessels from San Francisco to the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, may carry freights in bond from American ports on the Pacific coast through Canadian territory via rail routes to the Eastern ports of the United States. No one in London believes the vague report from Africa concerning Stanley's death. The papers devote much space to speculations concerping him, but none of them have any information outside of the general press report. Still it is recalled to mind that this report was circulated in London twenty-four hours before the press report from Africa was received, and that the news of the death of the Prince Imperial in Africa, of Gordon, and the destruction of Hicks Pasha and his army were reported in London several days in advance of any regular reports.
